Introduction

In this era of technology, we MFL teachers are spoilt with an excellent array of resource material. Interactive CD-Roms, DVDs, Internet sites ... you name it, we use them all. The main aim of all this is that, one day, our pupils will be able to communicate with other MFL speakers through our chosen language. In my own classes, this 'one day' is now. This, we do, through pen-pal correspondence.

My experience has shown me that, despite regularly introducing a variety of resources into my classes, rarely a class begins without a pupil asking 'Have our letters arrived yet?' 'Noch nicht' is met with disappointment whereas 'Ja' is met with great excitement and delight. My pupils are unwaveringly eager to reply. This may seem like a daunting task to the less-confident or the time-strapped teacher but ...

For the teacher, German Pen Pals Made Easy:

- ◆ Does not require fluency
- ◆ Is time-saving – little or no preparation is required
- ◆ Links with the KS3 Programme of Study
- ◆ Has inherent cross-curricular links to geography, art and ICT
- ◆ Supplements, consolidates and revises course work

For the pupil, German Pen Pals Made Easy:

- ◆ Is easy to follow. The method used is gap-filling as opposed to giving pupils the daunting task of beginning with a blank page
- ◆ Is realistic. The pupil realizes that German can be used for real-life communication and not just in an artificial situation
- ◆ Instils confidence. They can communicate effectively at a basic level
- ◆ Helps foster positive attitudes towards foreign language learning
- ◆ Facilitates intercultural understanding. The pupil can learn about German culture through a German peer
- ◆ ... and of course, it is fun and a wonderful way to make a new friend. (I should know as I have had the same two pen pals for over 25 years!)

Tips for the teacher

Where to find pen pals

1. There are many websites to help you to find a German-speaking class to correspond with, for example:
 - ◆ www.epals.com
 - ◆ www.globalgateway.org
 - ◆ www.etwinning.net
 - ◆ www.ipf.net.au (small fee)

If you have the option of choosing a country, do not forget other countries where you can find German-speaking schools such as Austria and Switzerland.

2. If your town is twinned with a German town, you could contact their 'Grundschule (ages 6–9 approx), 'Hauptschule' (ages 10–14 approx), 'Realschule' (ages 10–15 approx), or 'Gymnasium' (ages 10–18 approx).

Checklist for you and your German-speaking counterpart

1. Confirm with your German-speaking counterpart that your pupils will write in German and decide whether the replies will be in English or German.
2. Decide which class will write first.
3. Decide how you are going to pair the pupils. Either one of the teachers decides or the pupils in the class that receives the first letters decide. It is a good idea to make a note of the pairs immediately as some pupils will not remember their pen pal's name. Unless you find a class with the exact same number of pupils, some pupils will have to write two letters.
4. Discuss the expected frequency of your letters. This depends on the school calendar, workload and enthusiasm. Be careful to decide on realistic deadlines. It is a good idea to take one term at a time.
5. Agree on the themes for the term ahead. Take into consideration seasonal events such as Christmas, Hallowe'en and local festivals.

Before pupils begin

1. Before pupils begin to write a letter, it is paramount to have covered the relevant language orally. Remember: hear it, say it, see it, write it.
2. Introduce letter writing with a sample letter written on the board, chart or overhead projector. You could use the letter for Unit 1, 'Ich stelle mich vor', on page 10; this letter can also be downloaded from our website so you can display it on a whiteboard:
www.brilliantpublications.co.uk/pdfs/1043.pdf.

Highlight the five main parts of the letter:

- ◆ the heading, which includes the town and date
 - ◆ the greeting
 - ◆ the body of the letter
 - ◆ the closing greeting
 - ◆ the signature
3. Before pupils begin their first letter, explain to them how to use German Pen Pals Made Easy:
- ◆ Point out that pupils must first fill in the blanks and circle where there is a choice.
 - ◆ Using imaginary details or those of a pupil in the class, go through the letter line-by-line. Complete and circle where necessary. See what pupils can come up with themselves before referring to the 'Zusätzliche Vokabeln' section.
 - ◆ Write out the entire letter on the board. Explain to pupils that they will need to write a draft into their German workbooks.
 - ◆ Tell pupils that you will then correct their draft letters before they write their final letters.

Writing your first letter

1. Having explained how to use German Pen Pals Made Easy, give each pupil the German template letter for 'Ich stelle mich vor' (page 10). Depending on the class level and time, some teachers will prefer to only give certain sections of the unit. For example, if your class has a good level of German, you may prefer not to hand out the English template. However, if unfinished letters are given as homework, it is advisable to give all four pages of the unit. As the templates and vocabulary are bilingual, parents/guardians will feel comfortable helping.
2. If you give the English template, point out to your pupils that they are not word-for-word translations. It is the ideas that are translated.
3. Once you have corrected the pupils' drafts, they should write their letters out neatly to send to their pen pals. Using personalized stationery can help to make their letters special. Allow the pupils to choose this for themselves.
4. If pupils wish to include attachments such as postcards, photos, drawings etc, make sure that they are either stapled or stuck to the letter or that each pupil has their own individual envelope.

As you move on

1. As soon as you receive your first replies, get your pupils to stick their letters into their German workbooks or put them into their German folders.
2. German Pen Pals Made Easy is flexible so, with the exception of the first unit (Ich stelle mich vor), the units may be used in any order.
3. At the beginning of the correspondence, it will be easier for pupils to stick to the template letter. However, as many pupils become more competent, encourage them to change the order of the body of the letter. Weaker pupils can continue to stick to the template letter whereas stronger pupils can use the template letter as a 'springboard'.

4. You can give the class as a whole a choice of topics to choose from. Alternate the choice between the two corresponding classes.
 5. To vary the correspondence, you could use other means such as recorded messages on CD, tape, DVD or video.
 6. Do not allow pupils to give their home address or telephone number (or email if you are using snail-mail) until the correspondence is well-established.

Class projects

Class projects are an excellent way to vary class correspondence. The units 'Meine Schule', 'Wo ich lebe' and 'Weihnachtszeit' are particularly suitable. The projects can be done in English with an English–German glossary. The class can be divided into small groups and given one section each. Include drawings, photos, posters, videos, DVDs, CDs, brochures etc. A class project can be sent along with individual letters or in the place of individual letters. If you have any festivals particular to where you live, this would also be interesting for your pen pals.

Here are some ideas for things that could be included in the class projects:

Meine Schule

- ◆ our class timetable
- ◆ after-school activities
- ◆ school dinners
- ◆ our uniform
- ◆ our school building
- ◆ our teachers
- ◆ our school crest
- ◆ history of our school

Wo ich lebe

- ◆ history
- ◆ a map
- ◆ landmark(s)
- ◆ festivals and celebrations
- ◆ clubs/ activities for children
- ◆ food specialities
- ◆ local heroes and/or famous people
- ◆ traditional music
- ◆ languages and dialect

Weihnachtszeit

- ◆ Christmas food
- ◆ Christmas tree and decorations
- ◆ Christmas crackers
- ◆ A typical Christmas carol
- ◆ Christmas card-giving tradition
- ◆ Christmas stockings and gift-offering tradition
- ◆ 12 Days of Christmas
- ◆ Pantomimes

Classroom ideas

1. As soon as you receive your first replies, set up a 'pen pal corner' in your classroom. You can include a map of Europe, the world or the country of your pen pals, indicating where they live. You can also make flags of their country and your country. As the correspondence moves along, you can include anything that you or the pupils find interesting, such as traditional dishes, school brochures and festivals.
2. To work on oracy skills, pupils can give an oral presentation on their pen pal.
3. As part of art or ICT, pupils can make information sheets based on their pen pals with headings such as:
 - ◆ Name
 - ◆ Alter
 - ◆ Wohnort
 - ◆ Geburtstag
 - ◆ Augenfarbe
 - ◆ Haarfarbe
 - ◆ Brüder und Schwestern
 - ◆ Haustier/Lieblingstier
 - ◆ Hobby
 - ◆ Lieblingsfarbe
 - ◆ Lieblingsmusik
 - ◆ Lieblingsessen
 - ◆ Lieblingsgetränk
 - ◆ Lieblingsfach
 - ◆ Lieblingsjahreszeit

Tips for the pupil

1. Using a model letter, fill in the blanks and circle the words you would like to use. Check out the 'Zusätzliche Vokabeln' (Extra vocabulary) section for extra vocabulary. You can keep the English translation nearby to help you.

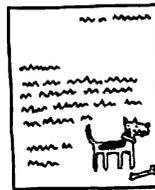

2. Write out a draft letter (a practice letter). Your teacher will then correct it.

3. Rewrite a final copy of your letter.

4. To make your letter more interesting, use nice stationery and/or decorate your letter with colourful designs and drawings. You can use some of the ideas in the 'Zusätzliche Ideen!' (Extra ideas!) section.

5. Enclose anything you think may interest your pen pal such as stickers, magazine cuttings, and postcards. Again, you will find ideas in the 'Zusätzliche Ideen!' (Extra ideas!) section.

6. Do not give your home address, telephone number or home email address without the permission of your parents and teacher.

7. Have fun!

Extra points

1. Boy or girl?

Your pen pal may not know from your first name if you are a girl or a boy. So, it's a good idea to tell them.

2. Ich bin zehn Jahre alt

In German we say, as in English: I am ten years old - 'ich bin zehn Jahre alt'.

3. Ich mag / Ich mag ... nicht

In English we say:

I like football.

I don't like basketball

but in German we say:

Ich mag Fußball.

Ich mag Basketball nicht.

'Nicht' comes after the thing you don't like.

Zusätzliche Einzelheiten

Extra points

1. Describing your eyes and your hair

In the sentence 'I have blue eyes' – Ich habe blaue Augen, the 'eyes' are accusative plural, so in German we add an 'e' to the end of the adjective.

If you say 'My eyes are brown' – Meine Augen sind braun, then 'eyes' are nominative, so there is no ending on the adverb.

The same is true when describing your 'hair'. In German, 'Haare' is plural so you say 'I have red hairs' – Ich habe rote Haare.

2. Nouns

In German all nouns start with a capital letter. The months of the year are nouns, so they start with capital letters.

3. Colours

If the colours are nouns, as in the sentence 'My favourite colour is red' – 'Meine Lieblingsfarbe ist Rot', then you use capital letters. If you describe things and use a colour as an adjective, as in 'My hairs are red' – 'Meine Haare sind rot', then you use a lower-case letter.

Zusätzliche Ideen!

Extra ideas!

Include a photo of yourself. You can stick it onto the back of your letter and write 'Das bin ich' (It's me!)

Zusätzliche Einzelheiten

Extra points

1. Types of family

There are many types of family. Whoever you live with, you can say 'Ich lebe bei meinen _____' (I live with _____).

2. Dear ...

If your pen pal is a boy, you must translate 'Dear' to 'Lieber'. If your pen pal is a girl, you must translate 'Dear' to 'Liebe'.

3. More than one brother and sister

For more than one brother, you can say:

Meine Brüder heißen _____ und _____ .
(My brothers' names are _____ and _____ .)

The same applies for more than one sister:

Meine Schwestern heißen _____ und _____ .
(My sisters' names are _____ and _____ .)

4. More than one pet

If you have more than one pet, you can say:

Ich habe 2 Hunde, die _____ und _____ heissen .

(I have 2 dogs who are called _____ and _____.)

Don't forget to make the animal plural. Here are a few examples:

Ending with -e:

Hunde	dogs	Ich habe 3 Hunde, 4 Goldfische und 2 Pferde.
Goldfische	goldfish	(I have 3 dogs, 4 goldfish and 2 horses.)
Pferde	horses

Ending with -en:

Katzen	cats	Ich habe 3 Katzen.
		I have 3 cats

Plural is the same as the singular:

Kaninchen	rabbits	Ich habe 2 Kaninchen, 3 Meerschweinchen
Meerschweinchen	guinea pigs	und 4 Hamster.
Hamster	hamsters	(I have 2 rabbits, 3 guinea pigs and 4 hamsters.)

Special plural forms:

Vögel	birds	Ich habe 2 Vögel und 3 Mäuse.
Mäuse	mice	(I have 2 birds and 3 mice.)

If you would like to describe your pets, then it is easiest to describe each pet individually:

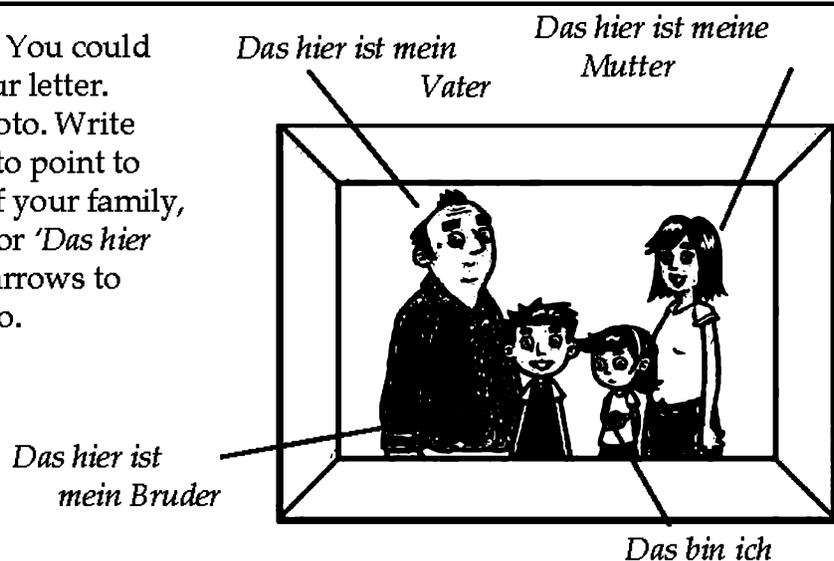

Ich habe 2 Hunde, die Max und Molly heissen. Max ist verspielt. Molly ist bezaubernd.

(I have 2 dogs called.... .)

Zusätzliche Ideen!

Extra ideas!

Include photos of your family. You could stick a photo to the back of your letter. Draw a frame around your photo. Write 'Das bin ich' and use an arrow to point to yourself. For other members of your family, write 'Das hier ist mein Bruder' or 'Das hier ist mein Stiefvater' etc and use arrows to point to the person in the photo.

Zusätzliche Einzelheiten

Extra points

1. Sports

In German, when we speak about playing sports we say 'Ich spiele Fußball', 'Ich spiele Volleyball', 'Ich mache Leichtathletik' etc we don't use an article, so it doesn't matter if the sport is a male, female or neutral word.

2. Musical instruments

In German, when we speak about playing musical instruments we say 'Ich spiele Klavier', 'Ich spiele Gitarre' etc. We don't use an article, so it does not make any difference whether the musical instrument is a male, female or neutral word.

3. Ich mag ... – I like ...

You can use the noun or the verb to say you like something:

Ich mag Schwimmen.	or	Ich schwimme gerne.
Ich mag Lesen.	or	Ich lese gerne.
Ich mag Fußball.	or	Ich spiele gerne Fußball.
Ich mag Reiten.	or	Ich reite gerne.

If you use the noun, you need a capital letter. If you use the verb, you need to use a lower-case letter.

Zusätzliche Ideen!

Extra ideas!

Include drawings, photos or magazine cuttings of anything to do with your hobbies, eg your favourite football team, your favourite singers or you practising a hobby.

If you are interested in football, you could use the caption 'Deutschland vor, noch ein Tor!'. This means 'Germany go for another goal!'

		12.Klasse	Year 12	17
		13.Klasse	Year 13	18

In some German states, instead of having three different types of secondary school, there are

2. Teacher

There are no different words for teachers of different school types, but if you want to make clear in which school a teacher works, you speak of him or her as a 'Grundschullehrer', 'Hauptschullehrer', 'Realschullehrer' or 'Gynasiallehrer'.

3. Adjectives

If you are describing a female noun, you must make the adjective feminine by adding an 'e'. If you describe a male noun, you add an 'er'. For neutral nouns you add an 'es'.

ein netter Lehrer	a nice teacher (male)
eine nette Lehrerin	a nice teacher (female)
ein nettes Spiel	a nice game (neutral)

For all plural forms you always add an 'e':

nette Spiele	nice games
--------------	------------

However, following 'Er/Sie/es ist' (He/She/It is) you don't add an ending to the adjective:

Der Lehrer/Die Lehrerin ist nett.	The teacher is nice.
Das Spiel ist nett.	The game is nice.

4. Dein/Deine

In German there are two ways to say 'your':

Dein	}	your
Deine

If the noun is masculine or neutral, we use 'Dein'

If the noun is female or plural we use 'Deine'

Extra ideas!

Include your timetable. Write each subject in a different colour. If you don't have a timetable, ask your teacher. Here is an example from a German school to help you do your own: 'Das ist mein Studienplan' ('Here is my timetable').

Extra points

1. Your friend

If you are talking about a boy, you use 'Dein Freund'. If you are talking about a girl, you use 'Deine Freundin'. We add an 'in' to 'Freund' to make it feminine.

2. German dishes

In some parts of Germany you can eat 'Sauere Lunge und Leber' (this means 'sour lung and liver'): small pieces of lung and liver in a sour sauce, usually served with a dumpling). In other parts they eat 'Saumagen' (this means 'stomach of a female pig'); it is indeed the stomach stuffed with meat and vegetables). You could ask your pen pal:

Hast Du schon mal 'Saure Lunge und Leber' oder 'Saumagen' gegessen?
(Have you ever tasted 'sour lung and liver' or 'stomach'?)

Time

In English, we usually use a.m. and p.m. to differentiate between morning and evening.
In German, it is more common to use the 24 hour clock.

1 a.m. = 1 Uhr	7 a.m. = 7 Uhr	1 p.m. = 13 Uhr	7 p.m. = 19U hr
2 a.m. = 2 Uhr	8 a.m. = 8 Uhr	2 p.m. = 14 Uhr	8 p.m. = 20 Uhr
3 a.m. = 3 Uhr	9 a.m. = 9 Uhr	3 p.m. = 15 Uhr	9 p.m. = 21 Uhr
4 a.m. = 4 Uhr	10 a.m. = 10 Uhr	4 p.m. = 16 Uhr	10 p.m. = 22 Uhr
5 a.m. = 5 Uhr	11 a.m. = 11 Uhr	5 p.m. = 17 Uhr	11 p.m. = 23 Uhr
6 a.m. = 6 Uhr	12 p.m. = 12 Uhr	6 p.m. = 18 Uhr	12 a.m. = 24 Uhr

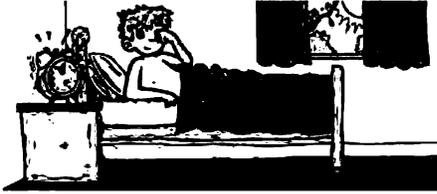

You would write 8.15 a.m. as 8.15 Uhr, but when you say it aloud you would say 'acht Uhr fünfzehn'.

Zusätzliche Einzelheiten

Extra points

1. Prepositions to describe where you live

You can give a clearer idea of where you live by using prepositions, for example:

Es liegt bei Leeds/Manchester/London/Stonehenge.
(It's near Leeds....)

Es liegt am Meer
(It's by the seaside)

Es liegt auf einer Insel
(It's on an island)

Es liegt auf der Insel _____.
(It's on the Isle of_)

'Es ist' literally means 'it is', but if you describe places in German, it's better to say 'Es liegt'.

2. Adjectives

You can also use adjectives to describe buildings and public places. Don't forget, the adjectives go before the noun in German. Make sure to use the correct ending: '-es' for neutral, '-e' for female and '-er' for masculine nouns. For example:

ein schönes Museum	a nice museum
ein schönes Schwimmbad	a nice swimming pool
ein grosse Bücherei	a big library
eine grosse Kirche	a big church
ein kleiner Flughafen	a small airport
ein kleiner Markt	a small market

3. Plurals

In German 'ein' has no plural like in English. For example:

Es gibt ein Restaurant.	There is a restaurant.
Es gibt Restaurants.	There are restaurants.
Es gibt eine Bank.	There is a bank.
Es gibt Banken.	There are banks.

4. Famous for anything?

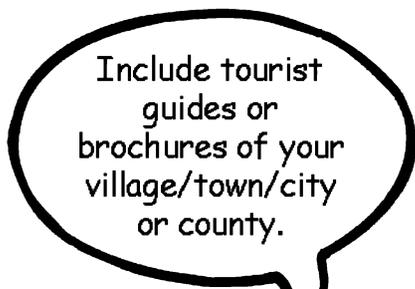

If the area where you live is famous or known for anything such as a market, a sporting event, a famous person, a particular type of food or an historical event, you can say:

_____ ist berühmt/bekannt für _____ .
 (Deine Stadt)

(_____ is famous/known for _____ .)

Zusätzliche Einzelheiten

Extra points

1. Adjective agreement

Colours are adjectives, so they need to agree with the noun they are describing.

If the noun is masculine, you need to use the masculine form of the colour:

ein blauer Pullover	a blue jumper
ein grüner Hut	a green hat

If the noun is feminine, you need to use the feminine form of the colour:

eine blaue Jacke	a blue jacket
eine grüne Bluse	a green blouse

If the noun is neutral, you need to use the neutral form of the colour:

ein blaues Hemd
ein rotes Kleid

a blue shirt
a red dress

If the noun is plural, you must add an 'e' to the colour:

blaue Hosen
grüne Blusen rote Kleider

blue trousers
green blouse
red dresses

2. Liebe Grüße:

German children often use 'Liebe Grüße' as their closing greeting. This literally means 'lovely greetings'. The English equivalent would probably be 'love'.

1. Plurals

If you have more than one of a certain room or piece of furniture, don't forget to make the noun plural. For example:

Es gibt einen Kleiderschrank.

There is a wardrobe.

Es gibt vier Kleiderschränke.

There are four wardrobes.

Es gibt ein Regal.

There is a shelf.

Es gibt zwei Regale.

There are two shelves.

However, to make 'Zimmer' (room) plural, you do not make any changes to the word!

Es gibt ein Schlafzimmer

There is one bedroom.

Es gibt vier Schlafzimmer

There are four bedrooms.

2.1 or a

The number '1' and the word 'a' are both translated into 'ein' or 'eine', so

There is 1 bedroom }
There is a bedroom } Es gibt ein Schafzimmer.

There is 1 chest of drawers }
There is a chest of drawers } Es gibt eine Kommode.

But: if you are counting 1, 2, 3....(one, two, three...) you translate '1' (one) into 'eins':
1, 2, 3... (eins, zwei, drei..)!

Zusätzliche Einzelheiten

Extra points

1. Christmas cards

In Germany, people do send Christmas cards, but only to close friends and to their family.

2. Stockings for Santa?

In Germany, children don't leave out stockings at Christmas. On Christmas Eve, when it becomes dark outside, a Christmas bell rings and the children are allowed to enter a room that up until this time has been locked. There they find their presents under the decorated Christmas tree. The family sings some Christmas Carols and then the children are allowed to open their presents.

3. Crackers

Pulling crackers is not a German tradition.

Zusätzliche Ideen!

Extra ideas!

Although sending Christmas cards isn't as popular in Germany as it is in the United Kingdom, you could make a card to send to your pen pal. Write a greeting such as:

Frohe Weihnachten und ein Gutes Neues Jahr
(Merry Christmas and Happy New Year)

As most German people don't usually know about Christmas crackers, you could make one for your pen pal.

You will need:

- ◆ a toilet paper roll
- ◆ crêpe paper
- ◆ a ribbon
- ◆ goodies such as sweets, a paper hat, a small toy

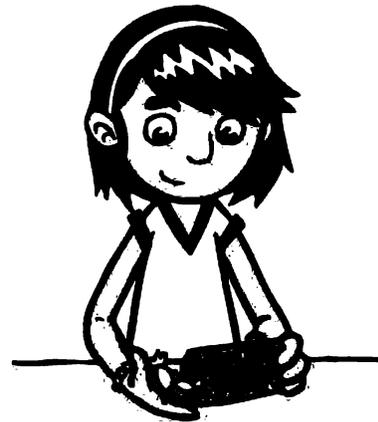

Don't put a snapper in as it is illegal to post them overseas.

Instructions

- ◆ Fill the roll with some goodies.
- ◆ Wrap the roll in the crêpe paper.
- ◆ Gather the crêpe paper at both ends of the roll and tie with the ribbon.
- ◆ As your pen pal may not know what to do with the cracker, include the following instructions:

Zwei Personen halten je ein Ende und ziehen. Die Person mit dem größeren Teil darf den Inhalt behalten.

(Two people hold an end each and pull. The person with the biggest piece gets to keep the contents.)

Zusätzliche Einzelheiten

Extra points

1. Ich denke an : den, die, das...

If you want to say 'I think of...' you say 'Ich denke an...'. We know that der, die, and das all mean 'the'. This changes with masculine nouns, not with female and neutral nouns. For example:

Ich denke an den Strand. (masculine)	I think of the beach.
Ich denke an die Sonne. (feminine)	I think of the sun.
Ich denke an das Meer. (neutral)	I think of the sea.

For masculine nouns, you need to change the translation of "the" from "der Strand" to "den Strand" because it is not the nominative case.

The same is true for:

Ich gehe an den Strand.
(I'm going to the beach.)

Ich gehe au das Meer.
(I'm going to the sea.)

But:

Der Strand ist schön.
(The beach is wide.)

2. Ich fahre nach/Ich fliege nach (I am going to)...

If you are going to another town or country you say usually 'Ich fahre nach' ('I drive to') if you go by car, bus or train, or 'Ich fliege nach' ('I fly to') if you go by airplane.

If you translate 'going' to 'gehen', this would mean you really walk to another place.

Ich fahre nach Blackpool.
(I'm going to Blackpool.)

Ich fliege nach Deutschland.
(I'm going to Germany.)

Ich gehe zum Laden.
(I'm going to the shop.)
